

Exhibitor CCTV

extra peace of mind

Introducing NEC Exhibitor CCTV

If you are looking for extra security on your stand then you can now order exhibitor CCTV from the NEC. CCTV on your stand provides you with a number of benefits whilst you're not around or are busy dealing with clients:

- Security cameras are an effective crime deterrent, helping minimize potential theft.
- Should anything happen on your stand, CCTV offers recorded images of any criminal activity.
- Any evidence captured will then be available to security or police officers.
- Depending on your insurance policy, cameras can assist with insurance claims.
- CCTV signage is provided with each camera to help deter crime.

HOW IT WORKS

You must pre-order CCTV from the NEC Sales and Customer support team in order for the cabling to be installed on your stand. Once the CCTV is in place, then this is how it all works:

- Images are recorded at a minimum of 12 frames per second when any motion is detected and 25 frames per second when activated by an alarm. These images are retained for 7 days.
- Should an incident occur on your stand, please speak to the Security Event Manager for the show to request that CCTV recordings are reviewed. A licensed security officer in the Venue Operations Centre at the NEC will then look at the footage. They will be able to confirm if any incident has taken place.
- The recorded footage can only be viewed / released under strict conditions governed by the DPA and NEC CCTV policy.
- Although the cameras are recorded 24 hours per day they are not physically watched by an individual. They are however generally monitored in the Venue Operations Centre and should anything untoward be observed it would be investigated and Security officers would be sent to your stand.

Here's what exhibitors think of the service

CASE STUDY – WOLSEY STAND AT MODA EXHIBITION

"We found that installation of the CCTV was quick and easy and the cameras were very discreet, they did not distract from our product or stand design. The images captured by the CCTV were very clear."

"We think the concept is a fantastic idea, it gives us peace of mind that our products are being safely watched over when the stand is not occupied."

INTERESTED? HERE'S HOW YOU CAN ORDER CCTV FOR YOUR STAND

If you would like to have CCTV installed on your stand, please contact the NEC Sales and Customer Support team and they will advise of the package options available. Prices start from as little as £200, for a single camera hired for a maximum of 7 days.

We will need to know where you would like the cameras to be fitted, including the time they are to be made live. It's important to specify the overnight times that your stand will be unoccupied as this will allow motion alarms to be set.

If you would like to be contacted during the night, should an incident occur, then please let the Sales and Customer Support team know when placing your order.
