Submission	A year that required an incredible level of adaptability and change from both staff and students. A year where we focused, more than ever, on the welfare and development of our students and staff, increasing options for student/staff interaction and liaison. A year of innovation and the introduction of new degree programmes and new degree options to ensure we remain as accessible and as flexible a school as possible, meeting the demands of students from around the world while renewing existing professional accreditations and developing new ones. A year of successful partnerships in research, teaching and business engagement, to the wider benefit of both students and academic colleagues. A year of sustainable and responsible thinking as a school, with our student and staff communities focusing on our commitment to the Principals of Responsible Management (PRME) and embedding its principles into our teaching.
