

THE Awards 2019 – Most Innovative Teacher of the Year

Institution/Nominee	Professor Zoe Robinson, Keele University
URL	https://www.keele.ac.uk/greenkeele/educationforsustainability/
Submission	Zoe Robinson, Professor of Sustainability in Higher Education, is a unique educator, researcher and practitioner in sustainability, who is passionate about empowering and enhancing the education and employability of all students. Zoe has pioneered impactful teaching innovations at every level - benefiting students, colleagues, businesses, the education sector and wider society. As Director of Education for Sustainability, Zoe integrates sustainability into all aspects of the curriculum and wider student experience, and so into the very fabric of the institution. Zoe has catalysed a culture change in sustainability education at Keele University, with sustainability now embedded in at least 96% of undergraduate programmes. Zoe works with students and colleagues to inspire and drive change across the university, and provides support to students to enact their ideas in the co-curriculum sphere, resulting in several student-led sustainability projects.