VISCONN

About Us

Visconn is a completely customisable unified communications platform, designed to adjust to your programmes and software. Currently being used within healthcare, recruitment, the legal sector and many more, it can be tailored to meet the requirements of any organisation.

Improve communication and collaboration within your organisation by providing employees with one straightforward, easy to use platform. Incorporating video, audio and instant messenger into one application that integrates with all major platforms and hardware, including Skype for Business, enabling your employees to communicate quickly and easily with both internal and external contacts.

Features

Visconn is available across PC, Mac, mobile, tablet, iOS and Android so you can access the platform from anywhere, no matter what device you're using. Whether you're in the office, on your morning commute or working from home, you can instant message, share files, set up meetings and join video conference calls quickly and easily.

Logging in to your account will take you straight to your dashboard. This is where you can find all of your notifications, meetings, recent activity and your calendar, all in one place. The dashboard is customisable too, so you can choose which features you want to make easily accessible.

Features

Visconn offers a variety of features and benefits to all of its users, enabling you to connect with as many contacts as required, no matter what platform or endpoint is being used. Integrate the app into your current workflow and other systems in use, as well as branding the app to make it look and feel like your own.
