Wednesday 11 September

Location: Mulberry bar

15:00 – 16:30  Meet your future partner

Following the success of last year’s session, we intend to discuss a year on how the landscape has changed. This is an exclusive networking opportunity for developers, housing associations, landowners and local authorities to meet and connect with the aim of unlocking small sites for residential development. Removing the barriers and empowering SMEs to get building will aid the government vision in seeing an increase in supply and in this session we will bring SMEs up close and personal with key organisations that will help unpack the technicalities of land acquisition, work through the collaborative solutions and highlight live land opportunities. The focus will include:

• Public land: how can SMEs get on the frameworks and acquire small brownfield sites?
• Technical advice on planning and masterplanning
• Capital, land and delivery: mapping the cycle from start to finish and troubleshooting
• Partnerships and joint ventures

Welcome by: Dennis Watson, Head of Real Estate, Barclays

Speakers:
Stuart Dawkins
Head of SME Investments, South, Homes England

Phil Collings
National Senior Land Manager, Homes England

Nigel Barclay
Head of SME Investments, North, Homes England

Amy Casterton
Chief of Staff, Homes England

Moderator: Rico Wojtulewicz, Head of Housing and Planning Policy, National Federation of Builders

15:30  #RESIHackathon registration

We welcome the participants of the third #RESIhackathon as they prepare to hack “later-living solutions that benefit the whole community”, over 24 hours, through the night.

17:00  Registration opens to RESI 2019 delegates

Location: The Caernarfon Suite

18:00  RESI 2019 officially opens

Welcome to RESI 2019 from conference chair
Speaker: Mark Easton, Home Editor, BBC News

18:05  RESI Trailblazers 2019 Introduction
Speaker: Liz Hamson, Editor, Property Week

Last year, we revealed our inaugural list of RESI Trailblazers, the resi rising stars that had come to the fore in the previous 12 months. Join us as we unveil this year’s Trailblazers, as nominated by readers, last year’s Trailblazers and our RESI Senate. Hear from leaders blazing a trail in tackling homelessness on the keynote panel, and then congratulate this year’s winners during the Big Reveal and at the conference welcome drinks reception.

www.resiconf.com
18:10 Keynote: Living homeless. Seven days as a nobody
Speaker: Julia Bradbury, Broadcaster
Julia is very much at home on our TV screens but for one week in winter she became officially homeless, abandoned on the streets of north London with nothing but the clothes on her back and a sleeping bag. She explains why she did it, what she learned and why it was beyond question the toughest thing she’s ever done. She’ll describe how even a famous person becomes anonymous on the streets and loses their sense of self and safety within mere hours. She says she’ll never look at homelessness the same way again. Hopefully, you won’t either.

18:30 Opening keynote panel: Trailblazing solutions to the homelessness crisis
For the housing sector, few issues cut to the quick more than homelessness – and there is no sector more uniquely placed to help tackle the crisis. With social impact and health and wellbeing increasingly to the fore and a range of innovative solutions, from proxy addresses and ‘meanwhile’ space to ground-breaking initiatives to help the homeless now to hand, our panel explores some trailblazing solutions to homelessness currently being implemented and asks: what more can be done?

Speakers:
- Chris Hildrey
  Founder,
  ProxyAddress
- Paul Morrish
  Chief Executive,
  LandAid
- Simon Boyle
  Founder,
  Beyond Food Foundation
- Holly Whitbread
  Housing and Property Services Portfolio Holder,
  Epping Forest District Council

Moderated by: Mark Easton, Home Editor, BBC News

18:55 RESI Trailblazers: The big reveal
Introduced by: Einar Roberts, Partner, Cluttons & Liz Hamson, Editor, Property Week
We unveil this year’s cohort of RESI Trailblazers, an inspirational group of almost 60 innovators, disruptors and entrepreneurs who are ripping up the rule book and making the residential sector fit for the future.

Selected by our RESI Senate, former Trailblazers, Property Week readers and the Property Week editorial team, the RESI Trailblazers hail from all corners of the residential sector and are as diverse a group of industry movers and shakers as you will get.

Location: The Gold Lounge, Marketplace

19:30 The Welcome Drinks Reception
An evening bonanza where food and drinks will be served aplenty in The Gold Lounge. View the #RESIHackathon and network with this year’s trailblazers.

The #RESIHackathon continues overnight

20:00 Editor’s Dinner
Closed event, by invitation only
Keynote: From starter to dessert: how to have everything on the housing menu
Speaker: Kevin McCloud MBE, Broadcaster and Author

Grand Designs presenter and author Kevin McCloud dishes up a delicious vision of the future that blends great design and architecture with low-carbon, community placemaking to create residential schemes of beauty and joy.

09:30 Research presentation: Future trends in residential development
Speaker: Lawrence Bowles, Associate Director, Residential Research, Savills UK

Savills’ research team is the largest of its kind in the UK. In this session, associate director Lawrence Bowles will deliver business-critical insight on market drivers, dynamics and other variables shaping the delivery of housing in the UK.

09:50 Keynote Address
Speaker: Esther McVey MP, Minister of State for Housing and Planning

10:10 Panel: It’s all in the mix – but how mixed-use can we go?

The housing sector has been hailed as the solution to the retail crisis and vice versa. But housebuilders and residential developers are not just working with retail landlords, they are increasingly partnering with office and industrial players as well as local authorities to deliver the truly mixed-use, community-focused schemes people are demanding. Hear some of the biggest names from across the property spectrum and beyond debate the challenges and opportunities presented by mixed-use.

Speakers:
- David Partridge, Managing Partner, Argent
- Martin Breeden, Development Director, intu
- James Saunders, Chief Operating Officer, Quintain
- Thomasin Renshaw, Director of Development, South Molton Triangle, Grosvenor Britain & Ireland
- Philip Barnes, Group Land and Planning Director, Barratt Developments
- Robin Dobson, Retail Development Director, Hammerson
- Kieran Hobbs, Residential Development Director, URW UK

Moderated by: Mark Easton, Home Editor, BBC News

Location: The Marketplace

10:50 Morning networking and refreshments break

Location: Speaker's Corner, The Marketplace

10:50 Alternative RESI
Session: Mid-market delivery of Senior Living solutions
Speaker: Honor Barratt, Managing Director, Birchgrove

Location: The Caernarfon Suite

11:10 Keynote: Brave new mixed-up world: technological and economic singularities (and how to survive them)
Speaker: Calum Chace, Futurist, Journalist and Best-selling Author

Calum will look beyond property to the wider world we all inhabit, and how it’s changing. Within the next three decades, AI powered machines will take over most human tasks, challenging how we as individuals earn our living and achieve self-worth. This is a change so radical that many pundits fear our economic systems won’t survive it and our societies will collapse. Calum takes the opposite view. His inspiring talk describes how we might reshape our economies, transform our businesses and learn to live better lives in a technologically enriched world.
11:30  Case Study: Turning Japanese – I really think so
Sekisui House UK, Urban Splash and Homes England outline their vision for their bold new modular housing venture.

Speakers:
Simon Gawthorpe
Managing Director, Urban Splash
Jonathan Bull-Diamond
Head of JVs & Partnerships, Homes England
Kenta Konishi
Chief Executive Officer, Sekisui House UK

11:45  Question time panel: Has affordable modular’s time finally come?
There has been much talk about modular, but to date, it has not been delivered at scale in the UK, cost and quality concerns being among the main prohibitors, alongside a far from conducive planning regime. But with recent deals such as the £100m JV between Places for People and ilke and the £90m tie-up between leading Japanese modular company Sekisui House, Urban Splash and Homes England, could we finally have reached a tipping point? Has the door been opened to more modular and therefore more affordable modular? Are we about to see the return of the council prefab? We pit modular’s pioneers against its doubters.

Speakers:
Simon Gawthorpe
Managing Director, Urban Splash
Michela Hancock
Development Director, Greystar
Chris Spiceley
Director Developments & Delivery Optimisation, Places for People
Graeme Culliton
Managing Director, BoKlok UK
Guy Burnett
Executive Director of Development, Metropolitan Thames Valley

Moderated by: Liz Hamson, Editor, Property Week

12:25  Question time panel: How can we create more civil partnerships?
Mixed-use, multi-tenure and intergenerational schemes are complex to design, finance and deliver. Their success depends on strong public private partnerships, often not just between two but between multiple entities – entities that might have very different aspirations, especially when it comes to the thorny issue of affordable housing. What does a good partnership look like? How can the aspirations of developers, investors, local authorities and housing associations be aligned? How can partnerships engage more effectively with the communities at the heart of these complex new schemes? What needs to be done to deliver the required level of affordable housing?

Speakers:
Vivienne King
Chief Executive, Soho Housing
Kieran Daya
National Land & Development Director, Galliford Try
Ian Fletcher
Director of Real Estate Policy, British Property Federation
Mark Kitts
Chief Executive Officer, Foundations
Steve Norris
Chairman, Soho Estates and This Land™
Sandra Dinneen
Director, Big Sky Developments & Former CEO, South Norfolk Council

Moderated by: Liz Peace CBE, Chair, Old Oak & Park Royal Development Corporation

Location: The Marketplace
13:00  Networking lunch

Location: Speakers’ Corner, Marketplace
13:10  Alternative RESI Session: Sheds & beds
Speaker: Kevin Mofid, Director, Research, Savills

Agenda

14:00 Concurrent in-focus sessions

Location: Caernarfon Suite A
Track A: Build-to-rent
Chaired by: Emma Shone, Deputy News Editor, Property Week

14:00 Panel: Is the pricing right?
As more BTR comes on stream, notional pricing can finally be compared with reality. So do the numbers stack up? Having started out as a high-end product, will BTR now evolve to include more affordable options? Experts debate the lessons learned from the BTR schemes that are now up and running.

Speakers:
Franz Doerr, Founder & CEO, flatfair
Neil Young, Chief Executive, Get Living
Chris Lacey, Managing Director, Lacey Capital Partners
Rajesh Shah, Managing Director, Tipi

Moderated by: Rachel Kelly, Senior Policy Officer, British Property Federation

14:30 Ask the experts: Is it BTR vs other asset classes?
BTR returns are notoriously low – developers struggle to compete against housebuilders for sites and income yields are low. How do investors make BTR work?

Speakers:
Jon Di-Stefano, Chief Executive Officer, Telford Homes
Harry Downes, Managing Director, Fizzy Living
Mark Bladon, Structured Property Finance, Investec

Moderated by: Emma Shone, Deputy News Editor, Property Week

15:00 Panel: How do we get co-living to live up to expectations?
On paper, it’s much more lucrative than BTR. But is it the amazing goldmine it is made out to be? How much demand is there really? More importantly, is it actually buildable? Without a use class, how do we get co-living schemes past planning and investment committees and turn them into reality?

Speakers:
Andrew Prickett, Director, UK Head of Residential, Faithful+Gould
Leona Hannify, Director, Planning, iceni
Justin Shee, CEO & Founder, The Kohab

Moderated by: Nick Riley, Board Director, Whittam Cox
Chair closing remarks:
Emma Shone, Deputy News Editor, Property Week

Location: Caernarfon Suite B
Track B: Finance
Chaired by: Mark Easton, Home Editor, BBC News

14:00 Panel: Financing emerging residential sectors
Debt availability has improved significantly for BTR, but what about newer, less established sectors such as co-living and retirement living? Are there additional considerations for lenders?

Speakers:
Richard Jackson, Managing Director, Apache Capital
Hugo Black, Partner, Europa Capital
Andrew Ovey, Senior Fund Manager, Healthcare, AXA IM

Moderated by: Deepa Deb, Partner, Dentons

14:40 Ask the experts: How to access finance if you’re an SME
What are the burning questions you have on access to finance? In this session, we bring together a panel of experts to address the questions, conundrums and issues that keep you awake at night.

Speakers:
Shahil Kotecha, CEO and principal, Pivot Finance
Dennis Watson, Head of Real Estate, Barclays
Michael Dean, Co-founder, Avamore Capital
Arshad Bhatti, Chief Executive Officer, Apex Airspace

Moderated by: Mark Easton, Home Editor, BBC News

15:00 Panel: London’s stalling
How are lenders and borrowers coping in the London market, where sales rates have slowed and values have fallen? How has the slowdown affected the availability of debt? Is the rise of BTR providing developers with a way to sell remaining units and pay back lenders?

Speakers:
Jessica Tomlinson, Head of Real Estate, London, Barclays
Marc Eden, Investment and Legal Director, Regal London
Tom Henry, National Acquisitions Director, Grainger
Guy Harrington, CEO & Founder, GlenHawk

Moderated by: Alastair Stewart, Property & Construction Analyst, Progressive Equity Research
Chair closing remarks:
Mark Easton, Home Editor, BBC News

15:30 Afternoon refreshments and networking

Location: The Marketplace
Afternoon refreshments and networking
15:50 Panel: Above and beyond
Necessity is the mother of invention and the combination of a housing crisis and limited development land has prompted a wave of innovation in the past year. Airspace development; beds and sheds; beds, meds and sheds; modular units in shopping centres; modular above carparks – you name it, it’s being tried. We take a look at the latest innovations in residential development and ask if they have the power to truly disrupt.

Speakers:
Val Bagnall, Managing Director, Apex Airspace
Rajdeep Gahir, Co-Founder, Vivahouse
Bill Dunster OBE, Founder, ZEDfactory
Moderated by: Savannah de Savary, Founder and CEO, Built-ID

16:20 Panel: Highly rated at last
The commercial property world is used to certification and rating schemes. Until recently, the residential sector has largely flown under the radar. Not anymore. This year, WiredScore launched a new certification aimed at the residential sector. Meanwhile, HomeViews, which badges itself as a TripAdvisor for the residential sector, raised £1m to take its residential review site to the masses and BRE announced the extension of BREEAM In-Use to cover all types of residential. We look at the proliferating certification and ratings schemes and assess how they will help professionalise the residential sector.

Speakers:
Rory Cramer, Co-Founder, HomeViews
Gwyn Roberts, Head of Housing and Policy, BRE Global Henry Pethybridge, Head of WiredScore Home, Wiredscore
Moderated by: Savannah de Savary, Founder and CEO, Built-ID

16:50 Presentation: Building a Safer Future
The Grenfell tragedy shone the spotlight on property management and health and safety and exposed serious weaknesses not just in social housing but in the private sector, and this has only been exacerbated by the Barking blaze in June. The government is introducing a new regulatory framework to improve fire safety in high-rise blocks following the Hackitt Review last year. How prepared is the private sector?

Speaker:
David Hills, Senior Director, Professional Services, Ark Workplace Risk

Chair closing remarks:
Savannah de Savary, Founder and CEO, Built-ID

Friday 13 September

Location: The Marketplace

09:00  Rescue Breakfast  Refuel, recharge and revitalise ahead of the day’s proceedings. We’ll be serving a selection of hot bacon and sausage rolls, and fresh fruit.

09:50  Chair’s Day Three Welcome
Speaker: Mark Easton, Home Editor, BBC News

10:00  Keynote: Building better, building beautiful
Speaker: Nicholas Boys Smith, Chair, Building Better, Building Beautiful Commission

10:20  Panel debate: How well are we doing at wellbeing and well buildings?
Before climate change shot up the political and social agenda thanks to schoolgirl activist Greta Thunberg and the Extinction Rebellion, the property industry had already started to raise its game on ESG and social impact. But the focus was largely on commercial property. That is changing rapidly as mixed-use, community-led schemes gain traction. So what impact will social impact have on resi-led, mixed-use development? How should we measure wellbeing and well buildings? Will the sector walk the walk as well as talk the talk?

Speakers:
Johnny Caddick  managing director, MODA Living
Olga Turner  Co-Founder, Ekkist
Dennis Watson  Head of Real Estate, Barclays
Olivia Harris  Chief Executive, Dolphin Living
Hugo Llewelyn  Principal, Newcore Capital

Moderated by: Conrad Davies, Partner, Osborne Clarke

11:00  Design challenge: Visions of an intergenerational, resi-led, mixed-use future
Residential-led, mixed-use schemes are being hailed as the solution to both the retail and housing crises. To date, the focus has largely been on redeploying redundant retail space both on the high street and in shopping centres. In the future, however, schemes will be mixed-use by design. They will also be intergenerational, multi-tenure and full of smart-tech.

We challenged some of the UK’s top architects to come up with their visions of the resi-led, intergenerational, tech-driven, mixed-use schemes of the future. In this dynamic session, they will pitch their visions to an expert panel and the RESI audience. The expert panel will debate the pros and cons of each scheme and deliver their verdicts. But ultimately, it will be up to the RESI audience to vote for what they think is the most compelling vision.

Expert judging panel:
Vanessa Hale  Director, Research, BNP Paribas Real Estate
Rajdeep Gahir  Co-Founder, Vivahouse
Jo Cowen  Founder and Director, Jo Cowen Architects
Nick Riley  Board Director, Whittam Cox
Farhan Urfi  Creative Director, Small Back Room

Moderated by: Paul Finch, Editorial Director, The Architects’ Journal

Pitching architects: BuckleyGrayYeoman  •  The Manser Practice  •  Assael Architecture  •  Chapman Taylor

Location: Caernarfon Suite

12:00  Closing Keynote: Come what May. Life inside No10
Ever wondered what life was like inside No.10 in the last days of Theresa May’s premiership? Here’s your chance to find out. The former PM’s spin doctor reveals the bad behaviour and betrayals that broke the Brexit deal, and tells us what he thinks of Boris Johnson, his chances of getting us out of the EU and what life might be like if he succeeds.
Speaker: Robbie Gibb, Downing Street Director of Communications under Theresa May
