This award celebrates architects who are excelling in UK-based practices. Nominees are judged on an overall body of work with an emphasis on a project completed within the past two years. This could be a large project for a multinational client or one focusing on more modest design interventions within a small practice. Like countless others, MJ Long's contribution to many of her buildings is often forgotten, including her input to the British Library (1973-98), designed with Colin St John Wilson. This award seeks to recognise the sometimes obscured contribution of architects working within practice.

Previous winners of the MJ Long Prize include Jennifer Frewen, associate director at Takero Shimazaki Architects for the Royal Academy of Dance (2024), Kirsten Gabriëls Webb, associate at Sergison Bates, for De Korenbloem sheltered housing (2023); Islington Architects' Fiona Monkman for Century Glass (2023); Alice Brownfield, associate director at Peter Barber Architects, for the series of new homes and interventions she led at
