Now running for over a decade, The Engineer's Collaborate to Innovate Awards (C2I) has established itself as UK engineering's most prestigious and important awards competitions.

Through the C2I Awards we aim to uncover and celebrate the UK's most inspiring, innovative and impactful collaborative technology projects.

Alongside a series of technology focussed categories we also celebrate the STEM initiatives and young innovators of tomorrow.

Entries are invited from all sectors of the UK engineering and manufacturing community, with shortlisted finalists typically including senior engineers and researchers from across UK industry and academia.
