

Coronavirus

We are closely monitoring the World Health Organization, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the local health departments for their latest updates and guidelines regarding the coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak. The wellbeing of our guests and associates is our paramount priority and we will continue to take the recommended preventative health and safety measures, including hand sanitizers in the washrooms and cloakrooms within the event spaces for your event.

Should you feel that a guest or a member of your team is starting to show symptoms, they should be asked to leave the property immediately and seek medical advice without making any further contact with others. Please note that the advice we have received recommends that our associates are not asked to actively engage or consult with anyone showing symptoms, therefore your guests will need to make their own arrangements on this basis.